

Privacy Policy for YouTube Playlist Sorter

Effective Date: 30.10.2025

1. Overview

YouTube Playlist Sorter is a free and open-source browser extension that enhances YouTube's "Save to..." dialog.

It adds features such as pinned playlists, alphabetical sorting, separators, a search filter, and a draggable, fixed-size dialog for easier playlist management.

This extension is a complete rewrite and is not based on or affiliated with any previous third-party projects.

2. Data Collection and Usage

The extension does not collect, transmit, or store any personal data.

- No analytics
- No tracking
- No advertising
- No third-party services

All logic runs entirely within your browser.

3. Local Storage

The extension uses Chrome's storage.sync API to save user preferences, such as:

- Whether sorting is enabled or disabled
- Pinned playlist titles
- Separator color
- Dialog size (width & height)
- Default sorting mode (pins / A→Z / Z→A / original)
- Debug logging toggle

This data is stored locally in your browser and may optionally sync via your Google account if Chrome Sync is enabled.

It is never transmitted to any external server.

4. Permissions

The extension requests the following permissions:

- <https://www.youtube.com/>* — required to enhance the YouTube “Save to...” playlist dialog.
- storage — required to save your preferences (pins, mode, colors, dialog size).

No other permissions are requested. The extension does not access external data.

5. Disclosure

This extension is not affiliated with, sponsored by, or endorsed by YouTube, Google, or any related entities.

All trademarks and copyrights belong to their respective owners.

6. Contact

For questions, suggestions, or feedback, contact:
support@psychomix.org

7. Updates

Any future changes to data handling or permissions will be reflected in this privacy policy and in the Chrome Web Store listing.